'PARADISE LODGE'

By Steve Cooper. Performed by Sophie Osborne and Steve Cooper

Thursday 15th March

Dinner Tables 6.00 - 6.15pm. Performance 8.15pm

In Paradise Lodge care home, the residents are gathered in the big lounge for a singalong with 1940s duo, 'The Doodlebugs' but it's the duo's first gig together and they don't seem to be gelling - and some of the home's residents have mixed feelings about being there too! PARADISE LODGE is based on Steve Cooper's experiences helping to care for his mother-in-law as she lived with dementia and it's a touching, comic, whirlwind of a play, in which the two actors play many characters in scenes that transport the residents back to a time when they had all their lives before them before charting their inevitable decline.

Some audience reaction from performances 'Laughed all the way through and shed a tear here and there.' 'An important message in a hilarious package.' 'Funny, moving, sensitive,' Don't miss this funny, poignant play !!
